In the Love and Truth of Jesus we grow

We're nearly done!

It has been such a fantastic week in school – even though I've not been here for most of it!

Well done to our Unsung Heroes today. I am so pleased that they had their chance to shine and be celebrated. It makes me so proud that we have so many children who follow our rules and do so consistently over the year.

London Baby! Well done to Y5. It was brilliant!

Have a lovely weekend. Mr Moran.

Class News

Seedlings – We loved sports day yesterday. Nursery all tried their very best and we were very impressed by our grown-up races too! Thank you all for coming.

Saplings – This week we have been thinking lots about the upcoming summer holidays and talking about the things we like to do in the summer. We are certainly summer ready!

Sycamores – This week we enjoyed our school trip to Newbiggin. All children were amazing and a special thank you to our parent/carer helpers. We can't wait for a fun-filled week next week!

Poplars – Year 2 have been fantastic this week. When we went on our school trip you were brilliant ambassadors for our school. When we had our playdate with Nursery children you were so kind and played so beautifully with our younger friends. Well done All.

Maples – This week we enjoyed our trip to the QEII lake. Everyone was fantastically behaved. We have also started to learn how to cross-stitch.

Elms – This week, Elm have worked extremely hard on their class assembly, which we can all agree was amazing! The children have been so driven to further their understanding of crime and punishment across the ages.

Hawthorns – The highlight of our week and year has been our amazing trip to London. We loved seeing all of the wild animals at the zoo and all the major landmarks in our capital city Can't believe we even got to see King Charles!

Chestnuts – This week we have been learning how to do quilting, engineering a biscuit protector and putting the finishing touches to our leavers celebrations!

Our fantastic unsung heroes for this half term. Well done everyone!
